

The business plans of a few corporate hogs are affecting millions of Americans daily. That is wrong. An evil enterprise like ClearChannel has the potential to manipulte millions of Americans by simply running an ad of their choice. One may travel anywhere in the country and hear the same garbage on the radio. Even with the current FCC rules, this is already a problem. Same applies to other media avenues. I say 'NO' to lifting the rules.